EAST VASSALBORO, ME., Oct. 15, 1891.

DANA'S SARSAPARILLA CO.:—

I wish to testify to the value of your SARSAPARILLA. For nearly eight years I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Canker in the Stomach, have been a great sufferer, for months at a time I would be unable to do anything, and when I took food it would almost kill me. I had got so bad that life was nothing to me. I had tried a number of Physicians and lots of Patent Medicines that were so highly recommended for such trouble; it would only give relief for a short time. I had given up thinking I would ever be any better when I read of the wonderful cures of your SARSAPARILLA. I thought I would try one bottle. [illegible]

WASHINGTON NEWS.

No Truth in the Statement

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4. Inquiry at State Department fails to confirm the report telegraphed from Valparaiso that Minister Egan will return to the United States in April. It is said there that no knowledge exists of his having applied for a leave of absence and there is no reason to believe that he is coming home under any other conditions.

Secretary Blaine to Resume Business Saturday.

Secretary Blaine, confined to the house with a cold, was compelled to deny himself to visitors to-day. He expects to be able to resume business at the State Department to-morrow.

The Behring Sea Dispute.

The fact was developed, to-day, that the authorities here had received notice that Lord Salisbury was unwilling, while the arbitration proceedings in the Behring Sea dispute are pending, to renew the modus vivendi of last year. He is said to be willing, however, to take the necessary steps for putting a stop, during the approaching season, to miscellaneous deep sea seal fishing, within 30 miles of the Pribyloff Islands. It was impossible to learn at the State Department, the precise nature of the substitute proposed by Lord Salisbury. It is probable this information received from London, caused President Harrison to shorten his stay at Virginia Beach, and that he will return to Washington on Saturday instead of on Monday, as he had contemplated. It is, therefore, likely that the treaty of arbitration will be submitted to the Senate early next week, possibly Monday.

Pension Appropriations.

The House Appropriation Committee to-day finished the consideration of the bill making appropriations on account of the pensions for the fiscal year, 1893. As completed it appropriates $134,825,066, as compared with estimates aggregating $147,064,550 and an appropriation for the current year of $135,215,786.

The Condition of Mr. Springer Improved.

WASHINGTON, March 4. Mr. Springer rested quietly and passed a good night. His condition is somewhat improved this morning.

The erysipelas, which has been affecting the brain, is rapidly subsiding and the doctors express the belief that all danger of death as the direct result of erysipelas is passed. The only menace to the patient's life now lies in the great prostration and loss of vigor, which has resulted from the ravages of the malady

Stephen Baker, Vice President of Manhattan bank, testified he had a long business talk with Field on Monday before the failure and that Field was then apparently of sound mind.

CONVICTS ESCAPE.

Two Prisoners Escape from Charlestown Prison

BOSTON March 4. At 6.30 this morning two men escaped from the State prison at Charlestown. The prison is overcrowded at present and the Warden said he was compelled to place two men in some of the cells, and it was from one of these that both men escaped. They are Richard J. Drohan, 20 years man, and Geo. T. Wells, who is serving a term of four years.

The men had secured several pieces of old clock spring and shaped it into a hack saw. With this they effected their escape, cutting off both inner and outer sets of bars. They had provided themselves with a rope ladder, to the end of which were attached two hooks, and with this they quickly scaled the prison wall and were soon out on the Boston and Maine track. It is thought they boarded a freight train bound east. Drohan was a member of the notorious Albany street gang of thieves which was broken up by the police in January, 1888.

In his opinion the charge could not be maintained for a moment under the statute under which it was brought. He therefore moved that Burrowes be discharged. Commissioner Rand accordingly discharged the prisoner, amid great applause.

Piscataquis.

A short time ago, a fishing party at the Doughty Ponds in Monson, were astonished to see a herd of ten deer bounding through the deep snow out of the forest, and on to the ice, says the Observer. The first thought was that they were being chased by wolves, but it soon appeared that the pursuer was a poacher intent on committing a violation of the game law. The lawless, would-be criminal fled when he saw that he was discovered. He had evidently invaded their yarding ground and stampeded the hybernating animals. This fellow should be watched closely by the law officers.

Mr. J. J. Laughton, of Mt. Desert, who proposes to start a canning industry in Belfast, has arrived. Mr. Laughton will at once begin to prepare the building leased of Mr. David W. Dyer for his business, and will put it in first class condition. The building is 30x66 feet and two stories high. The engine and boiler and cooking apparatus will be placed in this building, and a smaller building will be erected for receiving and shucking corn. A boiler has been ordered from Boston and an engine is being built in Bangor. Mr. Laughton will begin business as soon as his plant is ready.

A "Peeping Tom" is making the lives of the people living on Cedar street, Belfast, miserable. One courageous lady went out and caught him and inquired what he meant. He gave an evasive answer, and left. She says she can identify him on sight.

Mr. George Partridge, of Belfast, mate of the schooner Young Brothers, has been in the vessel ever since she was launched from the yard of McDonald & Brown, in Belfast, and has frequently spoken of the sailing qualities of the schooner, believing her to be one of the fastest vessels afloat. The Young Brothers arrived at Tampa Bay, Florida, February 20. Mr. Partridge writes: "We arrived here ten days from Philadelphia, the quickest run ever made between the two ports. We had rough weather and ran before a northwest gale out of our course, or we would have made the passage in eight days. Lost Boxer, the dog, overboard. We could not get him as it was blowing a gale and the vessel was running fourteen miles an hour. We passed every vessel we were in company with. Tell Mr. McDonald that if Capt. Bonner wants one of the fastest vessels ever built to have one after the model of the Young Brothers." Mr. Partridge says the vessel attracts much attention at Tampa for her great beauty.

Washington.

A paper is being circulated among the several factory owners at Eastport and Lubec, and is being quite generally signed, it being an agreement not to open the factories until the 15th of June, or two months later than is the usual custom. Owing to the scarcity and poor quality of the first herrings taken in the spring the cost of putting them up is greatly enhanced, while the finished products are seldom of the standard of excellence of those packed later in the season.

Three young men and two dogs from Eastport, had a remarkably lively encounter with a wildcat up near Boyden's Lake, last week, says the Sentinel. The boys, Fred Cates, Charesl Clark and Hiram Pulk, were out on a rabbit hunt when their dogs got on the trail of a big cat which was soon brought to bay, and not having the experience they now have, the dogs closed in, and one of the biggest of cat and dog fights was in progress when the boys arrived upon the scene, and it was quite evident the dogs were not getting the best of it either. But how to kill the cat and not injure its assailants was a question that was eventually solved by knocking its catship on the head with the but of a gun. During the hunt another large cat was seen and four attempts made to shoot it but the gun missed fire each time and it escaped.

There seems a very good prospect for there being a steamer put on the route between Pembroke and Eastport during the coming season, says the Eastport Sentinel. The air has been rife with such rumors for some time, but until last week it was not definitely known that the plans for establishing the line were about complete, and that stock for a boat had been subscribed for. Messrs. E. H. Sprague & Son, of the former place, are the prime movers in the enterprise, while the balance of the stock was readily taken financially by the merchants and traders at Pembroke. Mr. H. B. Sprague and Capt. O. I. Sinclair were passengers by Thursday's steamer, going west, to look after a suitable vessel, which they expect to buy and fit up, in readiness for going on the route at an early day. We wish our neighbors success in their enterprise. Such a means of travel has long been needed and the only wonder is, why such a line had not long ago been established.

Springfield News.

Our correspondent writes: The W. C. T. U. concert, February 28, was a great success. After Scripture and prayer by the pastor, Rev. Will C. Wood, a poem was read, for the first time in public, by Mrs. Agnes Blanchard, Secretary of the W. C. T. U.

After this poem, which was well received, the pastor gave statistics from the "Drink-Waste Diagram," very striking, $900,000,000 the nation's annual drink bill, (and as much more in liquor expenses), more than all the bread and meat and schools.

The main event of the evening was the lecture by Dr. Geo. A. Lewis, M. D., of Springfield, on "The Drunkard's Stomach." He performed experiments, alcohol in flame in a saucer, alcohol on the white of an egg. Two charts were exhibited, one published in London, the other by H. S. Stebbins, of New York. These showed the various parts of the body as affected and destroyed by alcohol. For more than an hour the lecturer went on, with descriptions of the effects of alcohol on the blood, the stomach, brain, liver, lungs, kidneys, and the rest, drawing from his long study and experience as a physician, case after case, of the destruction of the body by this cursed stuff. The lecture made a profound impression on the large audience.

The last exercise was the recitation, by Miss Lotta Thornton, of "Poor House Nan," in an admirable manner, which fitly closed a very effective concert.

Another Temperance Concert is projected by the W. C. T. U. for March 27, "Deacon Giles' Distillery," with addresses and recitations; and April 24, a Temperance Conference, at which Dr. Lewis has consented to give responses to a series of interrogatories, twenty or thirty in number, which will be put to him in writing.

Rev. Will C. Wood, the pastor, has commenced, for the benefit of the Association, a series of Bible Lectures, biographical, on Wednesday evening, [illegible]

THE LOYAL LEGION.

An Interesting Letter from Congressman Boutelle.

The March meeting of the Maine Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States was held at the Falmouth Hotel, Thursday evening, Brigadier General Thomas W. Hyde, of Bath, commander, in the chair:

At the business meeting, the recorder read the following letter from Hon. Charles A. Boutelle:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
UNITED STATES,
WASHINGTON, December 16, 1891.

Major H. S. Burrage, Recorder:

Dear Sir and Companion: I am in receipt of the resolutions of the Maine Commandery, endorsing the resolutions of the Minnesota Commandery in behalf of adequate improvement of our coast defences, and need hardly assure you of my warm sympathy with the patriotic sentiments expressed.

It may be a source of some satisfaction to the Maine Commandery that the 51st Congress, in which the Speaker of the House and Chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs were companions made the most notable contribution yet provided for the defence of our coasts, by appropriations for fortifications, and especially by authorizing the construction of the first powerful modern battle-ships for our navy.

I take the liberty of enclosing some reports by which you will see that the building of these heavy battle-ships was recommended by me primarily, as furnishing the most available and effective means of defending our coast, as I particularly designated them in the bill as "sea-going, coast-line battle-ships." It is a matter for national congratulation that these three powerful vessels now in course of construction, are regarded as superior in design to any other battleships, Mr. Biles, the designer of the City of New York and City of Paris, having expressed the opinion in a paper read before the Institution of Naval Architects in London, in March last, that:

"Their preponderance of armament would give them an advantage in a combat near their own coast line with any European vessel. They are distinctly superior in most respects to any European vessels of the same displacements, and for the purposes intended of protecting the American coast line, they seem to be quite a match for any ships afloat."

No higher commendation could be given than these words of the designer of the most famous ocean steamships in the world.

Mr. Biles spoke in similar terms of praise of the two commerce-destroying cruisers, Nos. 12 and 13, authorized by the same Congress, saying to his English associates:

"The building of such a ship as No. 12, with which we have nothing to cope, certainly is an indication of what America is capable of, both in conception and construction."

As an illustration of the character of the appropriations which have caused certain people to style the 51st as "The Billion Dollar Congress," I may cite the following figures showing the relative contributions toward the naval defences of our country:

Naval appropriations first session, 51st Congress	$24,016,005
Naval appropriations second session, 51st Congress	31,541,654
Naval appropriations two years 51st Congress	$55,557,659
Naval appropriations, aggregate of four previous years	$67,354,259

Or, to make the contrast more specific:

Naval appropriation for year ending June 30, 1886	$13,907,887
Naval appropriation for year ending June 30, 1892	31,541,654

For the direct purpose of building and equipping new vessels for the navy:

During two years of 51st Congress	$24,727,000
During five previous years	28,948,282
During four previous years	22,203,362

In other words the 51st Congress provided $2,500,000 more for increasing the navy than the two preceding Congresses and only $4,000,000 less than the total of all previous appropriations for the new navy.

As Maine companions had so much to do with these results, I have thought these reminders might not be entirely devoid of interest, and I am

Yours very sincerely.
C. A. BOUTELLE.

THE MAGNATES.

Unanimous Adoption of the National Agreement.

The National Base Ball Leagge delegates have been in session in New York, when the report of the National Agreement Committee was accepted and unanimously adopted. Some radical changes were effected in the old agreement, one change being that the minor clubs will be charged hereafter for protection to their players. The National League is given the privilege of signing the players of minor clubs during the months intervening between October 1 and February 1, the right of reserving players by announcement up to October 1 being conceded to the minor leagues. Instead of a bond, as formerly, a written agreement will be entered into by each league to make the [illegible] binding.

The Richardson case was settled. Day withdrew his opposition to Richardson's playing with Washington, as it was shown that at the Indianapolis meeting Richardson's name was [illegible] with [illegible] rest of the reserved men. New York had not objected. The Committee on Rules reported and the amended rules were adopted. The most important changes are as follows:

Rule 21—The players' bench shall be 25 feet back from the base lines.

Rule 26—If a team resorts to dilatory practice for the purpose of having the game called on account of darkness or rain, the umpire may forfeit the game to the club not at fault.

Rule 27, having to do with declared games, was amended to read as follows, the new portion being quoted: No game shall be declared by the umpire if he shall terminate play on account of rain or darkness, before five innings on each side are completed, "except in a case where the game is called, the club second at bat shall have more runs at the end of its fourth inning than the club first at the bat shall have made in its five innings, then the umpire shall award the game to the club having made the greatest number of runs, and it shall be a game and so counted in the championship contest."

Added to Rule 30—"Provided, a ball so delivered that it touches the bat of the batsman in his position shall be counted a batted ball and in play."

Rule 38—If a ball strike a fence less than 235 feet from the home plate the batsman shall be entitled to only two bases.

Added to Section 4, Rule 44, to words "his person" "except hand or forearm, which makes a dead ball."

Added to Rule 50—"And not more than two coachers who may be one of the players in the game and any one in the uniform of the club at bat, shall be allowed at any one time."

Rule 53, Section 1—The umpire is the sole and absolute judge of play. In no instance shall any person be allowed to question the correctness of his decision on a play, and no player shall leave his position in the field bases or bench, to approach or advise the umpire, except to show playing rules, and then only the captain. No manager or any officer shall go on the field, under penalty of forfeiture of game.

Added to Section 2, Rule 53—He shall also receive from the captains their respective batting orders, which, when approved, shall be followed as provided by rule 19.

Added to Section 8, Rule 68—If a base runner advances a base on a fly out or gains two bases on a single base hit, or an infield out, or attempted out, he shall be credited with a stolen base, provided there is a possible chance and a palpable effort made to retire him.

The Schedule Committee announced that it was ready to report, but the convention was not ready to receive the report.

The Western Association has agreed to do away with two of the most objectionable rules, namely, compelling players to purchase their own uniforms and charging them 50 cents per day while on a trip. The Eastern Association also decided to make its playing season from May 1 to October 1. This association will meet in Rochester, March 9.

After the adjournment of the convention the Board of Directors held a session. The Lyons case was considered and was laid on the table. New York thus gains Lyons for third base and Pittsburg loses him.

STUFFING AN ELEPHANT.

It was Shot in India and Mounted with Wood and Iron.

[Washington Star.]

"Once upon a time I accepted a contract to supply a stuffed elephant," said a skilled taxidermist to a writer for the Star. "I had to go to India to get it. Having reached there I obtained from the Governor of the Madras Presidency, a special permit authorizing me to kill the animal I wanted. Otherwise I should have been in danger from the law.

"Having provided myself with everything requisite for preparing and preserving the skin when I should obtain it, I hired several natives and pitched my camp in the Animally Hills, choosing a spot frequented by herds of wild elephants. We struck a fresh trail of a large herd, which we followed up. The course taken led us through forests, across great swamps of tall grass and finally along a steep mountain side covered with thick and thorny underbrush. Progress would have been exceedingly difficult but for the narrow lines left clear by the passage of the great beasts.

"The herd being overtaken, it was found to contain forty elephants of all sizes. It was deemed advisable to single out one that was by itself. The best opportunity was afforded by a large tusker, which was discovered feeding quietly on a hillside with three or four females and young males, a short distance from the main herd. Stealing up to within eight paces of him I fired a shot at his head, which entered about six inches above the left eye, passed through the brain and laid the noble animal dead in his tracks without a struggle or a sound.

"We proceeded at once to remove the skin, taking it off in three parts, so that it might be easier to carry. Along the back and head the hide was about an inch in thickness. There being only six of us, we were obliged to remove the enormous entrails and vital organs and cut off several hundred pounds of flesh from the carcass before we could turn it over, and even then it required nearly three hours' hard work with levers and props to accomplish that part of the task.

"Having removed the skin, which was accomplished in two days, we applied arsenical soap to the inside, upon which we sprinkled salt plentifully and rubbed it in with a flat stone. Then the outside was similarly treated. Finally, we pared away the hide on the inside, removing from it not less than seven hundred pounds of fibre. Twenty days after the death of the elephant the skin was dry and ready for shipment. It was packed in a single case and weighed when boxed only two hundred and forty pounds. In this shape it reached Rochester, N. Y., where I set to work to mount it. For this purpose I first constructed a manikin of the proper size and shape from drawings and measurements of the animal.

"Four square bars of wrought iron, each twelve feet in length, were heated and bent into shape for legs, and all were firmly bolted to a four-inch beam sixteen feet long, which was to serve as a backbone for the stuffed beast. On each side of the centre beam were nailed boards cut in semicircular shape to the same general outline as the ribs of the skeleton when in position. These false ribs were set the entire length of the body, and to them were nailed laths so as to sheathe the whole framework. A wooden pelvis and shoulder blades of the same material were constructed and nailed in position.

"With the real skull before us as a model we made another of wood, exactly the same size and shape as the original, into which the tusks were fitted. After bolting it firmly in place the framework of the manikin was complete. The entire framework was then carefully covered with straw, fastened to it in small bundles. By adding successive layers of straw the various muscles and prominences were reproduced with accuracy. The next step was to place the skin, thoroughly poisoned with arsenic, to keep off the bugs, over the model, sewing it together. The feet and legs were stuffed out to the proper shape and size, and then remained the most difficult part of the whole job—namely, the head.

"The trunk was made with straw wound upon an iron rod and bound into shape, and then the whole head was covered with clay. By means of this plastic and yet adhesive material we were enabled to make all the hollows and elevations on the head, as well as the deep wrinkles of the trunk. Then the animal was allowed to stand for three months, after which it was shipped on a flat-car to the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Cambridge, Mass., where it now is. It is nine feet five inches in height above its pedestal."

Measures the Profile of a River Bed.

An instrument has been invented in Germany by which the profile of a river bed may be taken automatically with sufficient accuracy. A curved arm rests on the bottom of the river, and by means of a recording mechanism the depth is automatically and precisely registered on a revolving drum.—New York Sun.

Certainly the cordial endorsement of so prominent a man should convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla is worthy your confidence. Mr. Charles F. Drexel, a well known former resident of Baltimore, Md., now Deputy City Treasurer of Omaha, Neb., writes that Hood's Sarsaparilla has effected a Phenomenal Cure in the case of his son, who when two years old became afflicted with Malignant Eczema. It first developed in his right eye, and the discharge from the same caused the whole face on that side to break out in a nasty, running sore. The poor little fellow was indeed pitiable to look at. Physicians gave him only temporary relief. He almost lost the sight of one eye, and the best oculists in Baltimore failed to benefit him. Finally Mrs. Drexel insisted upon trying Hood's Sarsaparilla and before he had taken half a bottle he looked like another child. The humor entirely disappeared, and His Eyesight was fully Restored. In fact, says Mr. Drexel, "he is the healthiest of our three children,

"Ever since I was born, I have been troubled at times, more or less, with a HUMOR on my hands, face and neck. For fifteen years it has been on the increase, I have been gradually failing in health, and for three years past it has itched and burned so badly, that all the way I could get any rest at night, was to bathe in strong carbolic acid, and this only relieved me for a few hours. In addition to this, eight months ago, Rheumatism in my neck and shoulders set in, drawing my shoulders so out of place, that for three weeks I did not have my clothes off. Physicians said I could never get well. I was unable to do any work, and was a great sufferer. I doctored with several Physicians, including Specialists in Boston, and took nearly all the advertised sarsaparillas and blood purifiers, but received no benefit what ever. I had given up all hopes, and my friends thought I could live but a few months. I began the use of SKODA'S DISCOVERY and TABLETS, according to directions, and also used SKODA'S OINTMENT externally. After using them but one week, there was a visible change in appearance. My skin that was literally covered with pimples and blotches began to clear up. My appetite became good, less pain in my shoulders, and I gained rapidly. I have now used less than two courses of these REMEDIES, and my Rheumatism has entirely disappeared. SHOULDERS THAT WERE DRAWN OUT OF PLACE AND WHICH THE DOCTORS SAID COULD NEVER BE GOT BACK AGAIN ARE AS GOOD AS NEW AND IN PERFECT POSITION. My skin is free from blotches and pimples. I have gained twenty pounds in flesh, can go into the woods at sunrise, and chop cord wood until dark, and not get tired, a thing I could never do before in all my life, and am able to work all the time. My friends are astonished at the results, and not more so than myself. A Republican State Convention

—WILL BE HELD IN—

NORUMBEGA HALL, BANGOR,

Wednesday, April 27, 1892,

At 11 O'clock A. M.,

for the purpose of selecting two candidates for electors of President and Vice President of the United States and four delegates at large and four alternates to attend the National Convention to be held at Minneapolis, Minnesota, on Tuesday, June 7, 1892, and transacting any other business that may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each City, Town and Plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1890, an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy five votes, an additional delegate.

Vacancies in the delegation of any City, Town or Plantation can only be filled by residents of the county in which the vacancy exists.

The State Committee will be in session in the reception room of the Hall at nine o'clock on the morning of the Convention for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates. Delegates, in order to be eligible to participate in the convention, must be elected subsequent to the date of the call for this Convention, and delegates under this call should not be elected to the State Convention to be hereafter called for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor.

All electors of Maine, without regard to past political differences, who are in sympathy with the sentiments expressed in the call of the Republican National Committee for the Republican National Convention, are cordially invited to unite with the Republicans of the State in electing delegates to this Convention.

Per order, Republican State Committee,
JOSEPH H. MANLEY, Chairman.
F. E. [illegible], Secretary.
AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 1, 1892.

Unparalleled Devotion to a Great Leader.

We have frequently had occasion to refer to the unparalleled devotion of the great majority of the Republican party to the leadership of Mr. Blaine during a period covering almost two decades, and its manifestations today, notwithstanding his personal attempts to put aside further honors, are more remarkable and enthusiastic than they have ever been before.

His letter announcing that he is not a candidate for President seems to have aroused a renewed expression from the earnest Republicanism of the country, that the party may not feel bound to consider individual preferences in asserting its own power to place its banner in the hands of its greatest chieftain. That Mr. Blaine is absolutely sincere in his disinclination to be again a Presidential candidate no one who knows him will for a moment question, but it is patent to every observer of the trend of public sentiment, that day by day thousands are becoming equally sincere in the belief that the interests of the Republican party may require his nomination.

As a striking example of this sentiment we reprint in this issue a powerful editorial published a few days ago in the Des Moines, Iowa, State Register, for years conducted by Hon. J. S. Clarkson, the distinguished Chairman of the Republican National Committee and President of the National League of Republican Clubs, and now edited by his brother. Those who are familiar with the forcible and trenchant style of the former will have little doubt as to its authorship, and its source imparts to this emphatic avowal every marked significance.

It is obvious that the writer is friendly alike to Mr. Blaine and the President, and he accords to the latter a just meed of praise for his excellent administration and his sound exposition of Republican principles, but he candidly discusses the elements of party interests, and declares a pregnant truth when he says that if the party shall deem it best to call the President to lead again he should be renominated not for his own but for his party's sake. We are sure that President Harrison himself will cordially endorse the Register's sentiments in that regard, for spontaneity in the convention is essential to victory at the polls and victory is more important than any and all questions of individual preferment.

The Republicans of Iowa have so long and so steadfastly stood shoulder to shoulder with Maine in their devotion to Mr. Blaine that this expression from their leading Republican paper will be regarded with especial interest at this time by the Republicans of our State.

Maine Democrats.

The leaders of the Maine Democracy held a meeting at Augusta Wednesday night and decided to hold their gubernatorial convention in this city in June. Some four hundred invitations were sent out and seventy five representatives of the party attended the meeting. For some time our Democratic friends have been intimating that they were going to tip Maine over into the Democratic column this fall, but at the meeting we find that the leaders did not take that rosy view of the political situation indicated in some of the party organs. Instead of revolutionizing the politics of the State they will be content to go "into the fight with a united front" in order that every effort may "be made to cut down the Republican vote next September to the lowest possible figure."

That the pretended confidence of the Democrats has no substantial basis, is shown by the fact that "Thompson, who was run last time, absolutely refuses to run again." He was willing to sacrifice himself once for the cause, but a second dose is declined with thanks. Boasting is all well enough in its place, but Mr. Thompson has learned from experience that it will not carry elections, and he is, therefore, entirely willing that some one else should have the empty honor of a gubernatorial nomination.

Tariff reform, which is free trade under another name, is to be the leading issue in the campaign. This will be very agreeable to the Republicans. Just now the Democratic Ways and Means Committee is considering a bill to place lumber on the free list. Whenever the Democrats attack the tariff lumber is always slated for the free list. That free lumber means the destruction of Maine's chief industry is a fact perfectly well understood by the lumbermen, Democratic as well as Republican, and a tariff reform campaign with a free lumber plank as one of its leading features would be a rich feast to place before the people of Maine. The Lumbermen's Association, now in session in Washington, appointed a committee to appear before the Ways and Means Committee to protest against the removal of the duty. Mr. Boutelle attended the meeting in the interest of Maine's lumbering industry.

We are told that but little was said about a Presidential candidate at the meeting. There were some [illegible] men present, but it was evident that the [illegible] were for Cleveland. His name [illegible]

Iowa Republicans Still Demand Blaine.

[From the Des Moines State Register, Feb. 28.]

The Republicans of Iowa will hold their ward and township caucuses and primaries and county conventions this and next week, to be followed by the state convention that will assemble in Des Moines two weeks from next Thursday to select delegates to the Minneapolis convention, which will name the party's candidate for the national campaign of this year. The personal preference of the members of the party should be expressed at every caucus and in every convention in order that the majority sentiment may prevail.

Iowa Republicans have always had leadership in National affairs. This year that leadership will be augmented in National significance and influence by the fact that it will be the first influential State to speak in 1892. The Republicans of Iowa have always been clear-headed and firm. When they have seen the interest of the party they have followed it, regardless of men. This year they have unequalled opportunity to give evidence of Iowa vigor and determination in instructing for a candidate for President without dealing in idle compliments to men, or even regarding the ambitions and claims of the most trusted party leaders.

The Iowa sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of James G. Blaine and the State's delegation should be sent to Minneapolis under instructions to cast Iowa's vote solid for the great party leader whose matchless ability as Secretary of State has made the whole administration popular at home and throughout the world. Every Republican paper and every member of the party should now be expressing choice as to candidates. Blaine's letter of withdrawal is not to be considered. The Republicans of the United States will select their own candidate and the man they choose will accept the nomination.

President Harrison has proved himself by many titles to be great, but he is not great enough and the party does not owe him enough, for him to be nominated again. If it is felt that he cannot command votes enough for success, or if the party knows of any other fit man who would poll more votes than he, and make party success more certain. Any supposed rivalry between Harrison and Blaine, or any fineal fear of dreading to choose between them, has really nothing to do with the case for their personal interests and desires are not to be regarded.

It is not a question of Harrison or Blaine. It is not a question whether Harrison is more entitled to eight years of the Presidency than Blaine is to four, even when it is Blaine's last chance to be President, and the people's last chance to have him for President. But it is a question whether Harrison is stronger than Blaine or Blaine stronger than Harrison or some one else stronger than either of them. That is a question that goes to serving the nation and saving the life of the Republican party.

No President should personally seek a renomination. If his first administration has been sufficient for the people to desire him for a second term, he will receive it without his own effort. The fact that in forty years of the Republic only Lincoln and Grant have been re-nominated and re-elected adds warning force to the historical fact now. If President Harrison has made the Republican party stronger than he found it, or if he has kept it as strong as he found it; if he stands the present strong man of the Republican situation, he should be re-nominated, not for his own, but for his party's sake. But, in re-nominating a President, it must be remembered that every vote cast against him is in fact a protest against the wisdom of the action.

Again, a party must be very strong which can ignore, as the Democratic party did to its own cost in the case of Cleveland, the weaknesses arising from the disappointed men and the antagonized and alienated elements during a President's first term. Never before have Iowa Republicans hesitated or faltered in making a choice of standard bearers and they have never before been placed in such a conspicuous position, with the eyes of the world upon them and waiting for their decision. It is not a time for hesitation or weakness.

Iowa Republicans should call with no uncertain or unsteady voice for the strongest man, and that man is James G. Blaine. He will poll 10,000 more votes in Iowa than any other man that can be nominated, a gain of 10,000 for the Republicans and a loss of an equal number for the opposing candidates, and Blaine will poll about that number of votes more than any other man, in proportion to population, in all other States. Iowa wants Blaine, the nation wants Blaine, why not instruct for him and light the beacon fires that will lead to certain victory in November.

Tontine Companies.

In order to "boom" their business they ceased to teach men the sacred duty of protecting their families by life insurance, and began, instead, to show them estimates of the profits that might be made out of the forfeiture of protection. Their experience had shown that, in their companies, out of a thousand men of middle age taking policies, only about one-third would pay premiums for, say, twenty years; about one hundred of them would die, but nearly six hundred would lapse—give up paying. So they proposed that no one should have any dividends for, say, twenty years, but pay his premiums in full; that if any one died he should get the face of his policy, leaving behind all the dividends his policy had earned; and if any man lapsed—couldn't pay—he should forfeit all he had paid, both the dividends earned and the reserves on his policy; at the end of the twenty years those who had been lucky enough to live and pay through, should divide up what the unlucky ones had left.

This was called "Tontine Insurance;" this, or a modification of it, as to the amount forfeited, is now usually called "Investment Insurance."—Extract 46th Annual Report of

LONDON, March 4. An agent of Reuter's Telegraph Company, inquiring into the distress in Vienna, paints a terrible picture of the destitution which prevails in that city. Many houses, he says, of splendid exteriors, give no suspicion of their miserable interiors. The cellars in such houses, he affirms, are crowded with starving people out of work, and others earning only a mere pittance.

Hundreds are unable to pay rent and exist in daily fear of eviction. In spite of all this misery there is a total absence of evidence of vice among the sufferers.

Hundreds of People Probably Drowned

LONDON, March 4. The British steamer Deccan 1,022 tons, sailed from Bombay January 12th for Mauritius, and is now thirteen days overdue at the latter place. It is feared she was lost in a cyclone which occurred immediately after her departure from Bombay. She had on board beside the crew, one hundred native passengers, and it is feared all were drowned.

Five Lives Lost.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Pure Food Bill Discussed by the Senate on Friday.

A Little Breeze in the House on Quorum Question.

Mr. Reed Makes a Point on the Speaker.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 4. Among the bills reported from the committees, and placed on the calendar, were: To establish lineal promotion through the several lines of artillery, cavalry, and infantry of the army; to encourage the endowment of institutions of learning at the national capital.

Mr. Manderson introduced a bill to prevent and punish corporations, associations and individuals for making or using scrip or metal tokens of denominations less than a dollar in payment of labor or other debts. Referred.

Mr. Stanford introduced a bill directing the purchase of silver bullion.

It directs the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase silver bullion offered at the market price, not exceeding $1 for 371¼ grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment therefor legal tender money of the United States, without regard to the material of which it is composed, a sufficient amount of such money to be prepared by the Secretary of the Treasury. The money issued in accordance with the act to be legal tender, in payment of all debts, public and private, except where otherwise stipulated in contract, to be receivable for customs, taxes, and all public debts, and is (when so received at the Treasury) to be re-issued and be counted by national banks as a part of their lawful reserve.

The Secretary of the Treasury to coin silver bullion so purchased into standard silver dollars to such amount as may be necessary to supply the general want or convenience of the government. Silver bullion so purchased to be subject to the requirements of the existing law and to the regulations of the mint service. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with them to be repealed; the act to take effect 30 days after passage.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Walthal offered a resolution, agreed to, directing the Committee on Privileges and Elections to enquire and consider whether further legislation is not necessary to put at rest such questions as from time to time have arisen out of the construction of the existing law regulating the time and manner of holding elections for United States Senators.

The pure food bill was taken up.

After discussion of the bill the business of the Senate was suspended and eulogies on the life and character of W. H. Fitzhugh Lee, late Representative from Virginia, were pronounced. Resolutions of respect were adopted and the Senate adjourned till Monday.

House.

The Speaker announced the appointment of Mr. Hemphill, of South Carolina, and Mr. Dingley, of Maine, as directors of the Columbian Institution of the Deaf and Dumb.

Mr. Mutchler, of Pennsylvania, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the invalid pension appropriation bill; referred to the Committee on the Whole.

After transacting unimportant business the House went into Committee of the Whole on the private calendar. Matters ran along smoothly until the bill for the relief of the legal representatives of Henry H. Sibley was reached. Major Sibley was in the army prior to the rebellion and was the inventor of a conical tent which was adopted by the United States Government.

Subsequently Major Sibley joined the Confederate army, and for this reason opposition was made to the measure.

Mr. J. D. Taylor, of Ohio, made the point of no quorum and the committee rose.

Mr. Kilgore, of Texas, made a motion that the House take a recess till 8 o'clock and on division the vote stood 85 to 84.

Mr. Enloe demanded tellers and they being refused, raised the point that no quorum voted.

The Speaker—The gentleman from Tennessee makes the point of no quorum on the motion to take a recess. The chair will have to appoint tellers.

Mr. Reed—The gentleman does not make the point of no quorum. He makes the point that no quorum voted.

The Speaker—Under the rules of the House and under the present administration of the House gentlemen are not present unless they vote. (Applause on the Democratic side.)

Mr. Reed—That shows, Mr. Speaker, that there has been a new system adopted since the last Congress.

The Speaker—That shows that the present occupant of the chair will endeavor to enforce the rules of the House as they now exist. (Democratic applause.)

Mr. Reed—Nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, the observation I made is entirely correct, namely, that the point the gentleman from Tennessee made was that no quorum voted. The speaker states the point he made was "no quorum." May observation, notwithstanding the retort of the chair, was entirely correct.

The Speaker—Perhaps it is, but it was entirely out of order. (Democratic applause)

Mr. Reed—It is entirely correct therefore the chair had no right to make such remarks.

The Speaker—The gentleman may be correct, but at the same time he is out of order. (Demands for regular order)

Mr. Reed—I was entirely in order when I called the attention of the chair to the fact.

The Speaker—The chair thinks not.

Mr. Reed—Entirely in order.

The Speaker—The chair thinks the gentleman is entirely out of order. There was no occasion for any such reply. The point was made, not by the gentleman from Maine, but somebody else. On the point of no quorum the Chair entertained the point, whereupon the gentlemen from Maine made his suggestion.

Mr. Reed—And thereupon I said to the chair that the gentleman made the point that no quorum had voted. The chair stated it was a point of no quorum, which is a different proposition. I had the right to call the attention of the chair to that. The chair had no right to make such a retort, even if he is supported by disorderly applause upon his side, which he permitted.

The Speaker—The chair will state there is no distinction under the present rules of the House between the point of no quorum and no quorum voted. There was a distinction between these two points of no quorum and no quorum present as made under the rules of the last Congress.

Mr. Enloe—I want to say that the Speaker is abundantly sustained by authorities in making retorts to the gentleman on the floor. (Laughter.)

The Speaker—The Chair does not intend to recognize that.

During the colloquy between the Speaker and Mr. Reed, both gentlemen appeared to lose in some degree their accustomed equanimity and the retorts, though in such polite language, were characterized by earnestness and some degree of warmth.

The House then took a recess until 8 o'clock. In the evening it being found that only 87 members were present, the House adjourned.

THE APPROPRIATION BILLS.

The Democratic House Proposes to Build Only One New Cruiser.

Mr. Boutelle, for Minority, Will Move Construction of Two New Battle Ships.

WASHINGTON, March 4. The House is rapidly getting regular annual appropriation bills into shape with a view to an early adjournment of Congress. It is possible that by the end of this month half of the regular appropriation bills will have been sent to the Senate.

The House committees to-day got three appropriation measures ready for report to the House, the pension appropriation bill (which was reported), army bill, and naval bill.

The urgency deficiency bill was also reported.

The naval appropriation bill, agreed upon to-day by the House Naval Affairs Committee, appropriates about $24,000,000.

The appropriation for the current fiscal year is $31,146,145. The bill provides for construction of only one new ship, a cruiser of about 8,000 tons displacement of the general cruiser type of the New York. No appropriation was Made for a New Cruiser.

Seven million dollars are appropriated for the "construction" of ships heretofore authorized and $2,000,000 for the "armament" of these ships, which is $2,000,000 less than the department estimates.

The last Congress in the second session appropriated $17,607,000 for construction and armament.

For Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard $13,500 is appropriated for new work.

Mr. Boutelle, of Maine, in behalf of the minority when the bill comes up in the House, will move to authorize the construction of two new battle ships in addition to the cruisers provided for.

The total appropriation carried by the army bill is $24,246,049, which is $367,830 less than the appropriation for the current fiscal year. The urgent deficiency bill appropriates $438,413, including $370,000 for public printing and $9,971 for the completion of the public building at East port, Maine.

LAID TO HIS REST.

Funeral Services of Rev. Amory Battles.

Impressive Exercises at the Universalist Church.

The funeral services of the late Rev. Amory Battles took place yesterday afternoon and there was laid to rest one of Bangor's noblest and best beloved citizens.

At two o'clock brief services were held at the family residence, attended only by the family and immediate friends, consisting of the reading of selections of Scripture and a prayer by Rev. E. F. Pember, pastor of the Universalist church.

At 2.30 P. M., the public services were held at the Universalist church, of which the deceased was twenty years pastor and forty years a member, and the large attendance of citizens filling the house, notwithstanding the terribly bad walking, testified to the great esteem in which the deceased was held and the universal sorrow felt at his loss. The concourse comprised many clergymen of other denominations in the city, and was noticeable for the large number of silvered heads it contained, indicating the feeling of respect in which Mr. Battles was held by those who had known him longest and best.

The casket, containing the remains, which held in the right hand a bunch of violets and on the breast a bunch of lilies of the valley, was placed before the pulpit, which was beautifully arranged for the occasion. In front of the pulpit was a life size oil portrait of Mr. Battles, taken several years ago, and which was a fine representation of him in the full flush of manly vigor. On the reading desk was a large open book of Marechal Neil roses, bearing on its respective pages the words "Love" and "Hope." There were other and numerous elegant floral designs, some of them from the churches in Dexter and elsewhere where he has so acceptably officiated.

The choir of the Universalist church, composed of Miss Merrill, Mrs. Wasgatt and Messrs. James H. Haynes and George S. Farrington furnished the music for the occasion most acceptably and opened the services with an appropriate selection which was followed by reading of the scriptures and of a poem, Dr. James Russell Lowell's elegy on Dr. Channing, by Rev. Mr. Beach, of the Unitarian church, a most appropriate selection and one which could not have been better adapted to any one since he for whom it was written.

Another selection by the choir was then followed by a feeling prayer by Rev. Robert Blacar, formerly pastor of the Universalist church in Kenduskeag and an intimate friend of the deceased.

Another beautiful selection of the choir followed and this was succeeded by the

REMARKS OF REV. E. F. PEMBER.

Rev. Amory Battles lived a life, wrought a work, exerted an influence and won a name that stands as the grandest monument possible to erect to his memory. His chosen profession as a preacher of the Gospel gave him ample opportunity to prove the sterling worth and thorough manliness of the man. Forty years of his ministry have been spent in Maine, preaching as he once said, in every county in the State save one. More than half of this ministry, and by far the better half, was in active service as the beloved and honored pastor of this parish. He was a man endowed by nature with qualities of mind and heart that pre-eminently fitted him for his chosen calling. He was a keen observer of men and the passing events of life. His natural spirit of gentleness, love and sympathy as expressed in a sweet smile, a kind word and a warm grasp of the hand invariably won for him a large place in the hearts of his people. Added to these rare endowments was a large and increasing culture. He read and loved good books and earnestly sought to keep in step and touch with the best thought of his time.

Nor should we overlook that further secret of his success as a Christian minister, a divine unction and religious fervor born only out of communion with God and a devout love for spiritual things.

As a preacher he was a fearless advocate of truth as he understood and believed it. Out of the purity of his own life he was opposed to evil in whatsoever form, and his pulpit gave him the desired opportunity to denounce wickedness and all unrighteousness, whether to be found in public or in private. The great struggle against intemperance found him a leader, and an advocate of purity, willing to give his word and work to deliver his brethren from bondage.

When the cruel curse of slavery held us in thraldom as a nation, all the keen sense of justice and the broad and generous impulses for humanity, filled and thrilled his soul until his every energy was consecrated to the cause of anti-slavery. Like other leaders of his time his tongue could not be tamed by policy, or his burning eloquence silenced at the possible loss of a parishioner.

He lost some hearers, but gained many others by his brave and loyal preaching, in those trying times. He doubtless felt all the while that he was simply doing his duty, and like our own Dr. Chapin, could say that "the minister should preach as if he felt that although the congregation own the church, and have bought the pews, they have not bought him. His soul is worth no more than any other man's, but it is all he has, and he cannot be expected to sell it for a salary. If a parishioner does not like the preaching, he can go elsewhere and get another pew, but the preacher cannot get another soul." No one will regret that our brother lived to see his prophecies fulfilled and his earnest utterances vindicated, by the complete and glorious victory for humanity. As an advocate of Christian truth, as a defender of the "faith once delivered to the saints," he was equally loyal and efficient. In conventions, associations and upon all special occasions, his appearance before the people of our church was most welcome and acceptable. When he arose to speak in such a gathering, the people well knew that it was because he had a message for them. His natural modesty and evident sincerity always commended an earnest and respectful hearing.

The influence of such a life and of so many years spent in Christian service can not be computed. From the children in the Sunday School to the oldest person in the parish all came under the inspiring, and helpful presence of a true pastor. His words of encouragement, his kindly counsel and his unfaltering faith in the possibilities of life, left its impress upon his people, and lives to-day in the purer character and nobler attainments of hundreds who claimed him as a friend. If we wished, we could produce many living witnesses of this statement. There are many who hold high and honored stations in the affairs of life who are willing to testify that they owe much of what they are to the teaching and preaching and personal influence of Brother Battles.

Oh, how many hearts have been comforted by his words of hope and faith in the homes of sorrow. Here he was at his best. His great and all-sustaining confidence in the glory of immortality, his message of the unbounded love and eternal goodness of God, was sufficient for the severest case of human sadness. Then, too, he had tasted from the same cup. He knew what it meant to part with loved ones.

Out of his own sorrow, his words bore a tender meaning to those who wept; and out of his own faith his tongue grew eloquent in telling the story of gospel truth and in presenting his picture of spiritual exaltation.

In hours of joy and gladness he was a welcome guest. The sunshine of his soul, and the natural cheerfulness of his life made his presence a benediction. The law of his life was the law of love. If he erred, it was on this side. He had only kind words for every one, whether they were present or absent.

Thus for nearly half a century, as a good minister of Jesus Christ his mission has been to "spend and be spent" for others. We are all mourners to-day. The Universalist church on earth has sustained a great loss. The city never had a more useful and upright dweller within its borders. As preacher, pastor, citizen, neighbor and friend, we appreciate his worth, and pay our humble tribute to his memory.

Brother Battles has had a part in this church ever since he was ordained its pastor—and over that period of 30 years has many times stood [illegible] in this pulpit. Nearly his first, his best and his last sermons were preached in the Universalist church in Bangor. When we think of what he has done in this city and in this State for the cause of liberal Christianity, we might well say as was once said of God's prophets Elijah and Elisha, "My father, my father, the Chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof."

"Servant of God, well done!
Rest from thy loved employ;
The battle fought, the victory won,
Enter thy Master's joy.
The pains of death are past,
Labor and sorrow cease,
And, life's long warfare closed at last,
His soul is found in peace.
Soldier of Christ! Well done!
Praise be thy new employ;
And while eternal ages run
Rest in thy Saviour's joy."

You all know that his last public ministration was at the funeral of his friend and neighbor.

In closing that service he repeated one of his favorite gems of poetry, which so far voiced his own faith and his own feelings, that we may well use it to-day.

"Whichever way the wind doth blow,
Some heart is glad to have it so;
Then blow it east or blow it west,
The wind that blows, that wind is best.
My little craft sails not alone;
A thousand fleets from every zone
Are out upon a thousand seas;
And what for me were favoring breeze
Might dash another, with the shock
Of doom, upon some hidden rock.
And so I do not dare to pray
For winds to waft me on my way;
But leave it to a Higher Will
To stay or speed me, trusting still
That all is well, and sure that He
Who launched my bark will sail with me
Through storm and calm, and will not fail,
Whatever breezes may prevail,
To land me, every peril past,
Within His sheltering heaven at last.

Then, whatsoever wind doth blow,
My heart is glad to have it so;
And blow it east or blow it west,
The wind that blows, that wind is best."

The address was listened to with the closest attention and interest. After another selection by the choir the services closed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Pember.

An opportunity was then given those who wished to view the remains and the entire audience accepted the invitation. A long procession of carriages, filled with mourning friends, followed the remains to their resting place at Mount Hope, the church bell tolling meanwhile.

The arrangements for the funeral were in charge of Hon. Henry Lord and the pall-bearers were Hon. Lysander Strickland, Mr. George Fred Godfrey, Col. C. V. Crossman, M. G. Trask, Esq., Mr. George B. Goodale and Mr. Amory Battles Chaplin.

AFTER THE STORM.

Ice Operations Again in Progress on the River.

Facts Gleaned by a Whig Reporter Friday.

A storm like that of Thursday was not calculated to inspire a feeling of confidence in the ice crop among the dealers, when the attending circumstances of time and extent of previous operations were considered, but nevertheless the various ice fields on the river, at which, on the day of the snow fall, operations were suspended, were again the scene of activity yesterday, the men being engaged in scraping and other preparatory work at some places, and in cutting and housing at others.

In order that the readers of THE WHIG might know some of the facts and figures in regard to the present condition of the industry, one of its reporters paid a visit to the different plants up and down the Penobscot during the day, and gathered whatever he found that would prove to be of interest. At that of the New York Ice Company the farthest down the river, he found that operations were suspended, and had been for a number of days, in fact since the beginning of the warm period a short time ago, when all of the companies were forced to shut down. Seven thousand tons of ice have been housed however.

The next above is the New England Ice Company's establishment, with its big 350 foot elevator. Harvesting began there last Sunday, and about 3,000 tons have been put in, or one-fourth of the capacity of the houses. The storm put a stop to this work, but it will be recommenced this morning. The ice is about 10 inches thick. About 65 or 70 men are employed. The Dirigo houses, above these, on the other side of the river will hold 30,000 tons of the "crystal," and about 12,000 tons have been run in them by the crew of 90 men who have been busily at work there.

Across the stream is the large plant of the Union Ice Company, which has, including all the houses, a capacity of 48,000 tons. At about noon yesterday, the crew of 120 men and 30 horses had again got the field in readiness for cutting, and the cakes, 11 and 12 inches in thickness, were soon going along the canal to their resting place. Thus far about 15,000 tons have been harvested there. The C. G. Sterns Company employ about 100 men and a number of horses, and yesterday they were busy preparing for the resuming of harvesting this morning. The 30,000 ton buildings have stored in them about 20,000 tons, and the fields are about 12 inches thick.

The two houses of the Arctic Ice Company hold about 32,000, and 12,000 tons have already been carried up the elevator. This concern recommenced housing yesterday noon, and is working a crew of between 65 and 75 men and 10 horses at present. The ice ranges from 12 to 13 inches in thickness. A short distance above is the Orrington Ice Company's plant, with a capacity of 24,000 tons, where something over half the crop is in the houses. A small amount was put in yesterday, but active harvesting begins again this morning, with an accepted thickness of the cakes of 13 inches. About 75 men and 15 or 20 horses find employment here.

Housing at the American Ice Company's fields was resumed at noon yesterday, the ice being 12 inches thick. One hundred and forty men are engaged at this place, and several horses. The buildings owned by this company will hold 45,000 tons, and between 25,000 and 30,000 have thus far been safely put away for next summer's shipments. Shortly before 9 o'clock yesterday forenoon the clear, cold cakes again commenced to go up the elevator at the plant of D. Sargent's Sons. It takes 28,000 tons to fill their houses, and of these about 18,000 tons have already been put in. The ice there yesterday was 13½ inches in thickness. About 85 men and 2 horses are now at work.

Messrs. F. W. Ayer & Co. expected to finish work Thursday but the storm prevented its being done. By 9.30 o'clock yesterday, however, the ice was again being sent into their buildings in cakes 14 and 5 inches thick, by a crew of 90 men and horses. The capacity of the houses is 33,000 tons and the work of harvesting will probably be completed to-day. The crop will be about 25,000 tons.

Messrs. Hodgkins & Hall have had a crew of 125 men busily at work and have put up 20,000 tons. They will get 4,000 more.

The house of Messrs. H. W. Smith & Co. has a capacity of 7,000 tons and is about half full. Next above are the Kaduskeag Ice Company's fields, with buildings holding 40,000 tons. A large crew is at work there and the crop is about one-half in. The Cochran-Oler Ice Company has finished operations for a time and has about 16,000 tons in the houses, which hold 20,000. They are "cultivating" a second crop and yesterday a crew was at work scraping the snow from the field.

At the plants of Messrs. E. & I. K. Stetson harvesting is completed for the winter. Their cut is about 25,000 tons and the work of putting it in was finished at about noon Wednesday. The capacity of their houses is 35,000 tons.

Messrs. E. H. & H. Rollins also have their ice business for the winter closed up and their 8,000 ton building is filled with the crystal product of the Penobscot. Their operations were finished Wednesday.

The severe storm has hindered the progress of the ice operations, but it is to be hoped that the weather from now out will be of a nature that will permit of the taking of the remainder of the crop. Very few houses will be completely filled, as here is, on account of the character of the ice, not enough in most of the fields to do so. The total amount harvested up to date is about 250,000 tons.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Roscoe F. Morgan.

A quiet, modest, unpretentious citizen, but one highly esteemed and well beloved by those who knew him, passed away yesterday. Mr. Roscoe F. Morgan died at his residence on Leighton street at the age of 41, of a pulmonary trouble from which he had been for quite a while a sufferer. Mr. Morgan was a member of the firm of Thurston & Morgan until ill health caused him to retire last summer. He was an honest, industrious and exemplary man and a worthy member of the First Baptist church. He was a Past Grand of Penobscot Lodge, I. O. O. F., and a member of Katahdin Encampment. He leaves a wife, one son and three daughters to mourn his loss, one of the latter being the wife of Mr. Wildes P. Veazie. The funeral service will be held at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock under charge of Penobscot Lodge of Odd Fellows.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE.

The Semi-Annual Meeting at Biddeford on March 30th.

The following programme of the semi-annual session of the Maine State Board of Trade at Biddeford, March 30th, is furnished THE WHIG by Prof. W. W. Stetson, of Auburn:

"The resources of Maine admit of the extension of her industries in what lines?" Charles S. Fobes, Portland.

General discussion.

"To what extent and by what means should the State and the Towns of Maine advertise their attractions and resources?" E. M. Blanding, Editor Industrial Journal, Bangor.

General discussion.

"What Maine has done and what she ought to do to be properly represented at the Columbian Exposition." C. P. Mattocks, Executive Commissioner for Maine.

Presentation of petitions, resolutions, etc.

The subjects are well chosen and their discussion will, without doubt, be helpful to the future prosperity of the State. It is expected that all the different boards of trade in the State will be well represented.

College Base Ball.

A Waterville correspondent writes as follows concerning the college base ball situation: The base ball season is the principal topic of interest now at Colby University. Manager Nichols has received letters from the Bowdoin and Bates Managers, asking for a meeting during the next month to arrange the schedule of games for the season. Mr. Nichols has not replied to the call yet, but the meeting will probably be held within a few weeks. The question of whether Maine State shall be "in it" this season is one that is again to come before the meeting. It has been generally supposed that the State College boys had no team to offer, but the manager, Mr. Freeman, has written Mr. Nichols as to the time of meeting and stating that he has a team to put in the field. It is the general verdict that distance will shut Maine State out. Mr. Nichols states that he thinks everybody should have a show, but at the same time the outlook is better for a league of three teams than four.

Portland, Machiasport and Rockland.

The steamer City of Richmond will resume her regular trips, weather permitting on Tuesday, March 8th, and will leave Portland Tuesdays and Fridays at 11 o'clock P. M. Returning, leave Machiasport Mondays and Thursdays at 4 o'clock A. M.

This arrangement will continue until the completion of the new steamboat, Frank Jones, now building for this company. When the Frank Jones is completed and ready for service, which will be about the first of July, the City of Richmond will be laid off to be used as a spare boat for the company.

When this takes place the new steamer Frank Jones will leave Rockland about 7 o'clock on the mornings of Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays for Castine, Deer Isle, Sedgwick, Sargentville, Islesboro, Brookline, Southwest Harbor, Northeast Harbor, Bar Harbor, Mt. Desert Ferry, Millbridge, Jonesport, Machiasport, and a number of smaller places and will return, leaving Machiasport on the mornings of Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, arriving at Rockland about 7 o'clock P. M.

By this arrangement the steamboat line between Portland and Machiasport will be discontinued, as the Knox & Lincoln will take freight and passengers between the two places by rail without any higher charges.

A substitute for lard? Upsetting the customs, habits, and prejudices of centuries? Yes, all this and more. Cottolene is a new cooking product—it is better than lard or butter for cooking, so say such noted housekeepers as Marion Harland, Catherine Owen, Mrs. S. T. Rorer, and many others; it is healthier—so says every thoughtful physician; and it is cheaper as every housekeeper knows when she finds that one-half the quantity answers every purpose.

COTTOLENE

is the purest clarified cottonseed oil mixed with pure beef fat. It is the best cooking material ever devised for frying anything and everything. It is easily digested and highly nutritious. Druggists and Physicians Are among the best friends of the scientific specific for Rheumatism, Ath-lo-pho-ros. The former find it a quick and steady seller and the latter often prescribe it. F. A. Smith, druggist, Gordon, Nebraska, wrote Nov. 30, 1891: "I am selling Ath-lo-pho-ros, and it gives the best satisfaction of any medicine I ever sold for Rheumatism."—— Dr. P. Thoroughly taught. Day and evening sessions at Room No. 15 Exchange Block, [illegible]
A. H. MA[illegible]

BREWER LOCALS.

The merry jingle of sleigh bells was again to be heard on our streets yesterday.

The monthly church meeting of the First Congregational society was held in the vestry last evening.

The 4th of March balls, in different places about here, were attended by some of our people.

Yesterday's weather betokened the approach of another storm of some nature but it failed to materialize before night.

To-morrow is the first Sunday in the month, on which the regular consecration meeting of the Christian Endeavor Societies occurs.

Brewer young men were among the number that were present at the meeting of the Bangor Debating Club last evening, and they found it an interesting session.

A large amount of muscle was expended by our citizens yesterday in shoveling paths through the snow that had fallen during the previous day and night.

Mr. Levi Pooler, of South Brewer, has been quite ill. Yesterday he was reported as being in a more comfortable condition.

It is expected that Rev. R. T. Hack, of Belfast, will preach a sermon at the South Brewer Congregational church in a few weeks.

Messrs. E. H. & H. Rollins had a crew of men at work yesterday taking up the slips, etc., at the scene of their ice operations, having finished harvesting.

Miss Mae Ayer, who has been for some time book-keeper in the store of J. S. Ayer at South Brewer, has resigned the position and gone to her home in Freedom.

Snowslides are generally a feature among other happenings after a storm like that of Thursday, and a number occurred yesterday, menacing life and property.

The sleighing about the city was quite good yesterday, although the snow had drifted in many places and some spots were entirely without it. The storm was a welcome one to people who had hauling to do.

The weekly assembly of the J. O. B.'s, held last evening, in City Hall, proved to be a most pleasant occasion for all present. Messrs. Abbott and Jones furnished the music, and an enjoyable order of dances was carried out. Delicious refreshments were served by Mr. M. E. Maling.

Those who have charge of the toll bridge had a job yesterday covering the team paths, so that vehicles on runners could pass through. This work has not been necessary during as long a portion of the season this winter as is usual.

Mr. Calvin Gatchell, of this city, had a somewhat narrow escape from drowning at the Orrington Ice Company's fields yesterday. He, while in a boat, in some manner fell out into the water, but was rescued by those near by, and a little later on appeared none the worse for his involuntary cold bath.

A large party of young people from this city and Bangor went to Pine Grove Hall last evening. The ride there and back was very pleasant and the time spent at the hall was much enjoyed by all. A fine supper was served and the evening was passed with games and socially.

Mr. A. E. Cole, the machinist at the South Brewer pulp mill, is to move his family here from his former home in Massachusetts. He will reside in the house on the corner of Main and Stone streets, made vacant some time ago by the removal of Mr. A. L. Sargent from it to his new dwelling.

There will be a large attendance from the First and Second Congregational churches in this city at the address to be given by Rev. A. E. Winship, of Boston, at the Hammond street church in Bangor, to-morrow evening. All who can do so will find it profitable to be present, as the event is expected to prove very interesting.

NEWS IN ADVERTISEMENTS.

Something Which People Should Remember.

An exchange has the following very sensible remarks:

Don't think that you have finished reading your newspaper when you have gone over the published telegrams, local reports, editorial comments, and sketches of life and character.

"First of all, the news," is a good motto in journalism, because people naturally want to learn about events, more or less sensational, of general interest. But to the thoughtful there is another mine of information and also of instruction in a daily paper. It is in the advertising columns. There are collected and exposed the daily happenings which the reporter does not find. Look through the advertisements of the journals of a village, town, city or country, and you will learn more about the life of the people whom the paper reaches than can be ascertained in any other way.

The advertising columns will give you the news, not as the newsgatherers find it, but as the people themselves unconsciously, but most truthfully, depict it at their own cost and for their own benefit, without much thought, if any, of its public value.

Try the experiment of looking for news of the daily current of life in the advertising columns of your home newspaper, and see if thereby you do not gain valuable and interesting information from day to day, even if you do not find news of direct personal interest to yourself, as you are most likely to do.

The Zest of Hunting.

You can never know the zest of hunting or fishing until your dinner depends upon your success; you have never attained the sublime in cookery until you have spitted your fish or meat on a freshly peeled stick, rubbed the salt in with your fingers, and broiled it over a woodland fire, you watching it jealously lest it get ablaze, and all the time that meat is browning you grow hungrier and hungrier, and every time it sputters in the glow you catch wafts of fragrance, until you feel that you have the capacity of a dozen starving men, and wonder whether a single haunch of venison can supply your wants.—St. Nicholas.

THE DOG OF THE REGIMENT.

"If I were a poet, like you, my friend,"
Said a bronzed old Sergeant, speaking to me,
"I would make a rhyme on this mastiff here;
For a right good Union dog is he.
Although he was born on 'secesh' soil,
And his master fought in the rebel ranks,
If you'll do it I'll tell you his history,
And give you in pay, why—a soldier's thanks.

"Well, the way we came across him was this:
We were on the march, and 'twas getting late
When we reached a farmhouse, deserted by all
Save this mastiff here, who stood at the gate.
Thin and gaunt as a wolf was he,
And a piteous whine he gave twixt the bars;
But, bless you, if he didn't jump for joy
When he saw our flag with the Stripes and Stars.

"Next day, when we started again on march,
With us went Jack, without word or call,
Stopping for rest at the order to 'halt,'
And taking his rations along with us all.
Never straggling, but keeping his place in line,
Far to the right, and close beside me;
And I don't care where the other is found,
There never was better drilled dog than he.

"He always went with us into the fight,
And the thicker the bullets fell around,
And the louder the rattling musketry rolled,
Louder and fiercer his bark would sound;
And once when wounded and left for dead,
After a bloody and desperate fight,
Poor Jack as faithful as friend can be,
Lay by my side on the field all night.

"And so, when our regiment home returned,
We brought him along with us, as you see;
And Jack and I being much attached,
The boys seemed to think he belonged to me.
And here he has lived with me ever since;
Right pleased with his quarters, too, he seems,
There are no more battles for brave old Jack,
And no more marches except in dreams.

"But the best of all times for the old dog is
When the thunder mutters along the sky,
Then he wakes the echoes around with his bark,
Thinking the enemy surely is nigh.
Now, I've told you his history, write him a rhyme,
Some day poor Jack in his grave must rest;
And of all the rhymes of this cruel war
Which your brain has made let his be the best."

FAITH IN CARIBOU.

Albe Holmes Purchases the Entire Plant Recently Owned by the Caribou Water Company.

The Aroostook Republican says: The people of this section were surprised, last week, to learn that Albe Holmes, Esq., of Caribou, the pioneer starch manufacturer of this county, and one of the most public spirited, enterprising and energetic citizens of Aroostook, had purchased the entire plant of the Caribou Water Company, which includes the dam, water power, water works, etc., etc. By this purchase Mr. Holmes pays over $100,000, and it is very evident that so large a sum would not have been invested by him, unless he had the strongest faith in Caribou's future and in the investment of the amount paid as a business venture. It also proves that Mr. Holmes is reasonably sure that this grand water power will soon be utilized, and he has already commenced his labors to secure the establishment of at an early date. There is every reason for believing that his efforts in this direction will be crowned with success, as pulp men say that there is no more favorable location in Maine for the establishment of such an industry, as there is in Caribou, where there is an abundance of pulp stock, any quantity of lime rock, and sufficient power for a large mill. Mr. Holmes is fully prepared to give a large concern extra inducements to locate in our midst, and we hope, during the spring, to have the pleasure of announcing that work on a new pulp mill will soon commence.

A New Lumber Mill.

Mr. Holmes believes that a new lumber mill giving employment to from 50 to 75 men, could be made a paying investment, and such a mill would not only utilize a portion of the power, but would manufacture some of the stock that otherwise would be run into New Brunswick and there manufactured.

The building of such a mill would be a move in the right direction, and the Republican is of the opinion that it will be comparatively easy to form a stock company and erect a large mill at this point. This project will receive Mr. Holmes' early consideration, and there is no doubt but that a large lumber mill will be erected here during the coming season.

Caribou is fortunate in possessing a man of Mr. Holmes' keen business foresight, who is an enthusiastic believer in a brilliant future for our village. The best interests of our town will be served by him, and they certainly could not be in better hands.

Pull Together.

All the citizens of Caribou have to do is to pull together in the future as they have in the past, and a gloriously prosperous future is assured. Let the good work go bravely on.

BUSINESS ITEMS.

Now is the time to take a good tonic medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the greatest merit, and is a popular favorite. 10

If a wholesale druggist in Pittsburgh telegraphs to New York for five gross of Cactus Blood Cure, and the messenger boy takes three hours and forty-six minutes to deliver the telegram, and a wreck on the railroad delays traffic seven hours, how long will the retail druggist have to be worried by anxious customers if the schedule time to Pittsburgh is 14 hours and an hour is consumed in delivering?

Ask H. Q. Miller, the druggist of Kenduskeag Bridge and Harlow St., Bangor. He sells Cactus Blood Cure and can tell you all about it.

THE WONDERFUL SUCCESS

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier entitles it to your confidence. No other preparation has such a record of cures of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Blood Poisoning, or other blood diseases. To try it is to know its merit. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

For general family cathartic we confidently recommend Hood's Pills. They should be in every home medicine chest. G

It strikes us as remarkable to hear of the wonderful record for curing, enjoyed by Betton's Infallible Pile Salve; it cures every form of this troublesome ailment. If not to be had of your druggist send 50 cents to the Winkelmann & Brown Drug Co., Baltimore, Md.

THERE IS NO PAIN LIKE TOOTHACHE!

"It "beats the dogs" for making a fellow squirm. Nobody pities you. "Get it out," says one; "rub the tooth against a stone," says another; "when it begins to swell then it won't hurt so much," says a third. The reason of the ache is you didn't use Sozodont, and prevent your teeth from decay.

Simply apply "Swayne's Ointment." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for Swayne's Ointment.

HAVE YOU TRIED DRUGS AND FAILED TO FIND A CURE?
Thousands of Cures by our Belts are persons who have done so.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT
WITH NEW ELECTRIC SUSPENSORY.

Now, Improved, Patented Appliance for Weakness of Men, Free with all Belts.
Patented.

The Crowning Triumph in Medico-Electrical Science! It cures all diseases curable by Electricity. It is a complete battery, as used by the foremost physicians, made into a Belt, so as to be easily worn during work, or at rest. It gives soothing, prolonged currents, which can be carried to any part of the body where there is pain, and will give instant relief, as electricity permeates the entire system with a natural, glowing heat, rejuvenating every weak organ or part of the body.

More Belts Made and Sold and More Sufferers Cured than by all other Electric Belts combined.

WEAK MEN

Suffering from Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Drains, Losses, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Lame Back, Kidney or Bladder Troubles, or general ill health, resulting from over-taxation of brain or nerve force, abuses, excesses, worry or exposure, will find a speedy relief and permanent cure in this marvelous invention, which requires but a trial to convince the most skeptical. In your ignorance of effects or by excess or exposure, you may have unduly drained your system of nerve force and vitality—which is Electricity—and thus caused your weakness or lack of force. If you replace into your system the elements thus drained, which are required for vigorous strength, you will remove the cause, and health, strength and vigor will follow at once and in a natural way. This is our plan and treatment.

Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is no experiment, as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor, after all other treatments failed, as can be shown by hundreds of cases throughout this State, who would gladly testify, and from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

Our 200 page book "Three Classes of Men," should be read by every young, middle-aged and old man, sent sealed, free. It explains our plan of treatment, gives testimonials from people in all stations in life and from all parts of the country, including very many in New York City, whom we have cured, thus showing our marvelous work at home. Do not delay writing for it. It will cost you nothing, and may be the means of renewing your life and health.

The Greatest Boon on Earth is Health and Vigorous Strength. It brings wealth, happiness and fruitful marriage.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I am glad to add my testimony to the many you have of the great value of your belt. My health has improved wonderfully, and I have gained twelve pounds of flesh, and now sleep well and have an excellent appetite. RHEUMATISM—LOST VIGOR.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 20, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I can report to you that the belt has entirely cured me of rheumatism from which I suffered for fourteen years almost continuously. I am a letter carrier, and the long daily tramps necessary in my rounds, up to the time of getting the belt, were painfully gone through with, but thanks to your wonderful invention, I can now walk as well as I ever did, and will recommend your treatment to all afflicted as I was. The current has also brought back my vigor in other ways as you said it would. Yours very truly, JAMES MEAD, 21 Perry St.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—The belt I bought from you about two months ago has done for me all you said it would do; and a neighbor of mine, whom I lent the belt to, says it has cured him entirely from pains through the chest from which he was suffering. And now I will recommend your belt to each and every one who are in need of a good remedy. Yours truly, PER JOHANSON, 195 Union St.

NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED IN 30 DAYS.

KINGS BRIDGE, NEW YORK CITY, 1891.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—Yours of the 28th received. Your belt has worked entirely satisfactory and has cured me. After having worn your belt five nights I felt great relief, and after thirty days I did not feel a symptom left. I have come to consider your belt as my family physician, and I owe many thanks to the inventor. You may say nervous debility permanently cured in thirty days. I was a sufferer from nervous debility, and for two years I didn't know what a night's sleep was. I had no ambition. I considered life a failure until one day I saw one of Dr. Sanden's Belts advertised in the paper, and I purchased one without delay. It changed my whole life; in five days I was feeling better and in thirty days I was permanently cured. I advise all humanity suffering from all weakness or nervous complaints to use Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt. It is the best physician you could get. Your servant, JESSE NORMAN.

NERVOUS DEBILITY, VARICOCELE CURED.

WEST LEBANON, Me., Feb. 2, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I want to give for publication my testimony, as I look upon your belt as my best friend in my time of trouble. The first day of April, 1889, I received one of your belts. The first week I wore the belt it seemed to do me more harm than good, it made me feel weaker than I was before using it. I wore the belt six hours every day. At the end of the second week I began to improve. I suffered mostly from nervousness, general debility, varicocele, and kidney trouble. I could hardly drag my legs after me. At the end of the third week I had gained two pounds in weight, and just one month from the day I received the belt my total gain was five pounds. At this writing I have made a total gain of fifteen pounds, and am well. I had been sick for two years; tried all kinds of medicine. I only got worse, and as a last recourse I tried the belt made by the Sanden Electric Co., and it has done wonders for me. I recommend the Dr. Sanden Electric Belt as one of the best things ever invented. It is a wonder in itself. With many thanks, and wishing you the greatest success, I remain, Yours truly, ASHBEL A. DIXON.

Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt with Improved Electric Suspensory is the greatest boon ever given to weak men, and we warrant it to cure any of the above weaknesses, and to enlarge shrunken limbs, or parts, or Money Refunded. They are graded in the strength to meet all stages of weakness in young, middle-aged or old men, and will cure the worst cases in two or three months. Write for our book at once, sent sealed, free. THE COTTON PICKER.

If the Cotton Picker is a good a thing why come to Boston to raise money? is a question often asked, and the answer is easy. Because Boston is the best place on earth to raise money for a really meritorious enterprise, as is being proven at 31 Milk St., where Bostonians are daily counting out their money or handing in their checks for stock in the Lone Star Cotton Picker. It is true that they investigate with greater care, weigh facts with greater accuracy and examine closer and scrutinize with greater intelligence than the average, and it is also true that when this has been done none are more ready to put their money in a legitimate enterprise than they, provided the facts warrant them in so doing. And that is just the reason the Lone Star Cotton Picker Company are selling their stock so rapidly. Because the facts prove that the investment must be a phenomenally profitable one.

One fact that the attention of investigators is called to is the small capitalization—only $5,000,000—compared to the business to be done. It is phenomenally small. It is expected to save $90,0[illegible],000 annually in harvesting the cotton crop. It is not unreasonable to suppose that the machine will earn for the company one-third of that saving, or $30,000,000.

The Bell Telephone Company and its various exchanges earn $[illegible]0,000,000 annually, and have a capital stock of $200,000,000, 40 times as large as the Lone Star Cotton Picker—while the earnings are only one-third as much. It is true that the Bell Telephone Company has proved its capacity to earn by paying dividends in the past, and the Cotton Picker has not. But the value of each of them depends on what their earnings will be in the future. And, notwithstanding the great value of the telephone, which is recognized by all, the evidence shows that, so far as events can be predicted, larger earnings and profits should be looked for from the Cotton Picker than from the telephone. A full sized machine is on exhibition at 31 Milk Street, where stock is for sale in any quantity. Single shares, par value $10, or block of any size.
